Ms. Bentham's News

This week in reading we worked on the social story, "You're Being Watched." In our story Rob tried to shoot a spit wad at his friend Jeff, but hit his teacher Mrs. Allison. We learned that we get in trouble even if the teacher did not actually see us do anything. We talked about how our behavior affects others in the classroom and even out of the classroom.

We have been working of learning different cooking terms so we can continue to become more efficient in the kitchen. This was the last week with our C4 friends as they will not be back after break. We made whoopie pies and dirt cups to celebrate Spring Break.

We continue to work on our money math skills with different games that help us learn the next dollar amount, how to make change, and how to comparison shop. We use these skills when we work on the coffee cart, or when we have customers come into the classroom. They are also preparing us for when we go into the community to our job sites.

Have a great Spring Break! See everyone on the 24th!!

Break!

Mrs. London's News

We are ending the third nine weeks! After Spring Break we will begin the fourth nine weeks. Students will be bringing progress reports home soon after break.

We have new data sheets we are using to collect data on student performance at job sites, community outings, and coffee cart. A copy of some of those data sheets are included with the newsletter. We have started using them this week. Families should see them coming home with students on days the student went on an outing. Please contact the student's teacher of record with questions.

Our vocabulary will focus on our next section of the Planner Guide. We will talk about problem solving and getting help. Examples of this work are on page four of the newsletter.

I have updated my website. There are fun pictures from this week's bowling activity on it. A copy of the newsletter is also on my website. You can access my site by going to the Columbus North High School site and clicking on faculty and then my name.
