

SAT Prep Class

$225 per student (includes both English and math)

This course has been created to offer high school students preparing to take (or retake) the SAT test extra support and practice. It is taught by licensed, experienced teachers: Heather Hester (English), Katie Ferguson (English), and Jenna Goen (math).

This course has been taught for several years and has continually yielded good results for students. Most students who are taking the SAT need a refresher on math they likely did a year or more ago, and given most English teachers no longer focus much on grammar and usage, students need a "re"-fresher course - since identifying sentence errors and improving sentences and paragraphs make up a good portion of the test. Essay writing, the first test on the SAT, is also a focus of the course.
